RB Bryce Love

On his reaction to being selected by Redskins:

"Dang. I mean obviously, it is surreal. I am excited and ready to get in there and get to work."

On his rehab process:

"I've been progressing to treadmill work and introducing impact, different impact drills and things like that. I'm still looking good according to Dr. Andrews and everybody. I am feeling good as well."

On when he will be able to do lateral movements:

"My goal is to be ready by training camp, mid-training camp. Being able to find a way to compete and do my thing."

On if he expected the Washington Redskins to select him:

"In this process, everything is kind of a surprise one way or another. I actually got recruited by Coach [Randy] Jordan while he was at [North] Carolina back when I was in high school for a little bit. I knew we had that relationship and what not. But as far as knowing where I was going to go, it was definitely a surprise."

On coming to play alongside RB Adrian Peterson:

"Yeah, I mean it's a blessing of course. I mean he's one of the greatest to play the position and one of the greatest players of all time. So being able to come in and learn from him and learn from all the other backs in the room will definitely be big."

On if he is happy he returned to Stanford for his senior season:

"Yes. Absolutely. I wouldn't change anything. God writes the plan. I'm just excited for the opportunity and excited to get out and compete."

On if he learned anything about himself this past year:

"Absolutely. I mean life is about learning, developing and progressing. Obviously, I feel like I am a better player for what I went through. Ultimately down the line, it will be able to be shown. "

On what he can bring to a team and what role he can play at an NFL level:

"Being able to bring explosiveness, versatility, being able to do a lot of different things. Ultimately beyond anything else, getting out there and competing and doing whatever I am asked to do."

On if he wants to showcase his pass-catching abilities:

"Oh yeah, absolutely. One of those things we were doing, we had a lot of different options as an offense with JJ [Arcega-Whiteside], Trent Irwin and Kaden Smith and all those different things. So being able to go out and showcase that ability as well will definitely be big."

On leaning on Redskins running backs Derrius Guice and Adrian Peterson for advice on returning from an ACL injury:

"Absolutely. I mean ACL's are a process and everybody's is unique and different. Being able to ask questions and just stay on the grind by seeing the results of the work you put in will definitely be big and definitely be exciting."

On if he has talked to former teammates about what to expect coming into the league:

"Oh yeah, beyond anything else just be ready to put your head down and be ready to go to work. The big message that has been consistent with everybody, which is learn, grow, understand that it is different and just take it day-by-day."
