QB Jayden Daniels

On what he has learned about himself over the past few weeks:
“Gotta continue to stick to the process and not change who I am as a person or a player change my routine based on outcomes. So gotta continue to stick to the process and keep getting better day in and day out, really.”

On how he adjusts to rotations at the receiver position:
“Yeah, I think it's just the nature of the business. Things happen, somebody might be up one week and down the next. So, it's the nature of the business, that's why I stick to my process and who I am. As long as I'm consistent within myself, I can go out there and play with anybody.”

On if he expected the team to have been acclimated to the new offensive and defensive schemes by now:
“I mean, that's what you would love, for sure. Or at that point, you wanna hit a rolling from day one and that's just not what the reality is right now. So, we continue, like I said, guys are in and out the lineup, I was in and out the lineup, things like that. So, we dealt with a lot of things, but we also are playing the cards that we’re dealt.”

On what it’s been like working with Quarterbacks Coach DJ Williams:
“It's been good. Just him staying hard on me and like coaching me and you can feel the genuineness when we have conversations, and he wants me to be the best version of myself. So, it's been good. It's been cool just to sit up there and have conversation with him outside the ball and stuff like that.”

On the evolution of his relationship with Offensive Coordinator David Blough:
“Yeah, I think we're far ahead of where we were OTAs, but we're still growing and we're still learning and going through things. He's a first-time coordinator, so he has growing pains that he's going through and stuff like that. It's not gonna be perfect as much as you want it to be, but we still, we're still continuing to stick to the process and really just going from there.”

On preparing for the amount of New York Giants blitzes likes to run:
“Oh, you gotta have answers. Answers within myself of different things I could check to, answers within the play any protection, adjustments, stuff like that. So, we gotta have answers.”

On how he adjusts to rotations at the center position:
“I think it's the same thing about the receivers. Just sticking to my process and being consistent throughout that, things happen. People are in and out the lineup, so it doesn't matter who's in there, as long as I stick to my process and know where to go is football and communicate as best I can with everybody things should be good moving forward."

On how things change from game to game with teams having various strengths:
"I think it changes week in and week out, depending on coordinators, depending on what their guys do best and what kind of scheme that they run and stuff like that. So, we know that the Giants, they have a lot of good athletic players out there that they like to get into the mix and blitz, you know, try to create mismatch and matchups and stuff like that. So, we just gotta prepare for that and then really adjust from there on out."

On his thoughts of WR Van Jefferson's performance last week:
"I think just his competitive edge and, you know, he got open, made some tough catches. I think Van continued just to be a part of his room, in any role, any capacity he wants to be."

On how his offensive suggestions show up on game days:
"I think just stuff I don't like throughout the week, he'll take out. Stuff I really do like, he'll call, and things like that. So, I think that's really where it's shown and like I say, he's still growing as a coordinator, first time coordinator, still going through his growing pains and stuff like that. So, I just try to do the best I can, just go out there, execute, doesn't matter what the play call is, it doesn't matter anything. If we got all 11 people going in the same direction, we have a chance."

On why the tight ends other than TE Chig Okonkwo seem to be less involved:
"You'll have to ask [Offensive Coordinator David] Blough and them that, but I just think, you got a guy like Chig, explosive, but I don't have a really have an answer for that one."

On whether the players discuss anything regarding the trade deadline today:
"Nah, we just focus on, we let the front office do what they do and we gotta go out there and play."

On the red zone execution and making last minute decisions:
"I mean, my windows are tighter, you know, it's less space, stuff like that. So, we gotta be precise on routes, timing, throws and everything like that. So I think that's kind of what it happens in open field, you have a lot more space. Once you get tied to the red zone, windows are for sure tighter, so you gotta be able to fit some footballs in there and guys gotta make some tough contested catches."
